Pillow Pouches (Back or T-Seal Pouches)

Pillow pouches are one of the most economical forms of packaging, extensively used in the market. These pouches are formed with the shape of a pillow and consist of a bottom, top and back seal. The back seal extends to the length of the pouch and hence it is referred as “Back or T-Seal Pouch”. The top-side is usually left open for filling the contents.

Pillow Pouches are well known for full wraps around graphic displays. The structure of the pouch is such that one can always fill in the contents with “Higher Filling Volume”.

Some of the key benefits include

- ✓ Economical and easy to fill the contents
- ✓ Huge printable area (without any break)
- ✓ Higher filling volumes compare to other pouches
 - ✓ Light-weight packaging
 - ✓ Cost efficient transport
 - ✓ Less waste to dispose
- ✓ Lower cost vs. Rigid containers
