Spouted Pouches

The reason behind the recognition of these pouches is its user friendly design which is apt for storing liquids, pasty or loose bulk materials. Besides, in comparison to normal PET or glass bottles, these are easier for transport and perfect for retail shelves.

Spouted pouches are re-closable and produced with a weld spout and a cap. These spouts can be engineered for spill control, convenience and safety and hence suitable for liquid range of products like beverages, sauces or cleaning agents. The size and form can be customised as per clients need and requirement.

Smart Pouches also provides spouted pouches which includes fitments and closures according to the specifications of wide array of products.
